The Unintended Reformation

Thursday, April 18, 2013

12:00-1:30 p.m.

Henry West Banquet Room

Our guest speaker for the 2013 Faith and Learning Luncheon is Dr. Brad S. Gregory, the Dorothy G. Griffin Professor of Early Modern European History at the University of Notre Dame.

Dr. Gregory is the recipient of the 2011-2012 Aldersgate Prize for Christian Scholarship awarded by the John Wesley Honors College for his book, The Unintended Reformation: How a Religious Revolution Secularized Society.

Due to Dr. Gregory's overseas teaching commitments, he will present his address via video-recording.

IWU Faculty are invited to attend the luncheon, which will also celebrate faculty and student research accomplishments, including the Lilly research awards and the Outstanding Faculty Scholarship Award.

Please RSVP by Monday, April 1, 2013, to honors.office@indwes.edu.

"Gregory's wide-ranging and synthetic study is a model of Christian scholarship that challenges reductionist tendencies among historians and illuminates the character and genealogies of some of the fundamental dysfunctions of contemporary society." Dr. David Riggs, Executive Director of the John Wesley Honors College
