

Indiana Wesleyan University Written Arrangements Disclosures

The federal government, as part of the Title IV student financial aid program, requires disclosure of written arrangements whereby 3rd parties provide portions of IWU academic programs. The details of the regulations can be found at the following links.

- 668.5 definition of written arrangements
- 668.8 definition of eligible programs
- 2010-10-29 modifications to the regulations, including disclosure requirements

IWU does not have any academic programs for which a mandatory portion of the program, including credits and grades, is provided by a 3rd party. On the other hand, IWU engages with a variety of 3rd parties to provide unique educational opportunities for students. A basic description of these arrangements is provided below. Additional information on any individual arrangement can be requested from institutional.research@indes.edu. Program websites are linked on this page: <https://www.indwes.edu/undergraduate/education-abroad/semesters-abroad/affiliate-semesters-away>.

Please note that the “Estimated Additional Cost” category in the charts below is based on full IWU tuition, room, and board. Students should also remember the following IWU financial aid policy for approved affiliate semester away programs:

Affiliate semester away students are eligible for all state and federal financial aid. They are ineligible for their normal IWU institutional aid, except they may apply for the Global Studies Grant and the World Changers Scholarship (applications available on the “Education Abroad” page of the IWU Portal, or by contacting global@indwes.edu).
