Progress on Assessment Goals for 2007-08

Dr. Cynthia Tweedell, Associate Dean for Institutional Effectiveness, with the help of Chau Jackson, Assessment Specialist for AGS, and Eve Grant, Assessment Assistant for AGS, brought assessment to a higher level as survey volume climbed. Here are the goals for 06-07 with notes on the progress on each:

1. Provide “Christ-like service and support to students” by providing End of Course Survey reports within 2 weeks of receipt. This will require some upgrade in technology.

During the past year we have struggled to keep up with the volume of surveys. After consultation with UIT we decided to purchase Class Climate from Scantron. This software will be implemented in the coming year and we anticipate it will greatly streamline our survey processes.

2. Develop a Center for Research in Adult Learning and sponsor an Adult Education Conference in Indianapolis.

The Center for Research in Adult Learning was approved by CCCU and IWU in May. IWU sponsored an Adult Education Conference in February which attracted 95 participants from 30 Christian colleges.

3. Kick off the Higher Learning Commission Self Study process by identifying a steering committee and subcommittees and begin work on defining committee tasks.

The Steering Committee has been meeting monthly since January. Subcommittees have been active since March.

4. Develop a Self Study Web Site which will combine Institutional Research, Assessment and other business of the Subcommittees.

This web site is under development. The project is managed by Dr. Don Sprowl and Dr. Lorne Oke. There is a Blackboard site for Steering Committee business.

5. Program Reviews for

- a. BSA- Completed
- b. TTT- Completed
- c. ELMO/ELMS- In process
- d. MBA: Specializations- Completed
- e. BS-Marketing- Completed
- f. Graduate Ministries- In process
- g. Doctorate in Org. Leadership – In process (Awaiting a sufficient number of graduates from which to gather data.)

Higher Learning Commission Assessment Academy

During 2007-08 Indiana Wesleyan University began participation in the Higher Learning Commission Assessment Academy. Then Task Forces met to consider criteria and means to measure these Outcomes on the bachelor and graduate level.

The Academy Team consists of the following members:

Cynthia Tweedell, Chair

Don Sprowl, Assistant VP of Institutional Research

Bradford Sample, Dean of CAPS

Connie Lightfoot, Assistant VP of CAS

Jim Fuller, Dean of CGS

CCCU Adult Student Learning Outcomes Project

This project, directed by Cynthia Tweedell, was initiated at a 2007 CCCU Consultation with deans/directors of adult programs at several CCCU schools. A Task Force was formed which met several times via conference call and implemented the following project:

1. The Task Force developed a rubric and writing prompt
2. IWU collected essays from several Christian colleges (early & late in their programs)
3. Faculty from various colleges scored the essays
4. Each college's scores were benchmarked against the sample as a whole.

Business and Management

Associate Dean: George Howell

Business & Management Programs has initiated an Advisory Council (BMAC), a group of business leaders from Indiana, and soon to include business leaders from Ohio and Kentucky, to serve in an advisory capacity to provide external assessment of our programs and help Business & Management build on and advance its existing relationships with the business community. The Business & Management Advisory Council meets twice a year, in the fall and spring. In the BMAC November 2007 meeting, the council provided feedback on what expectations employers have for both MBA and Bachelor graduates who apply for positions in their company. With project team work as a foundational tenet of Business & Management curriculum, in the BMAC May 2008 meeting, the council provided external assessment on our project team structure and course assignments.

BSA Assessment

The assessment date for the BSA program was Friday, June 6th. We had 4 full-time faculty, one affiliate faculty member and the Program Director and Assistant Director present

- Over 25 sample papers from MGT425 have been collected – scores have improved from the last assessment period
- Over 20 sample projects from ACC491 have been collected – scores on the projects indicate students have a strong application base of content knowledge – however the scores were below the assessment plan target
- Over 20 Pre-test and Post-test have been collected – the test scores had increased the amount desired, but the absolute scores were well below the assessment plan target

The following recommendations result from reviewing comments from accounting alumni, comparing the Indiana Wesleyan accounting curriculum to the curriculum of similar Christian schools in Indiana, professional interaction and discussion among the full time and adjunct accounting faculty of the College of Adult and Professional Studies.

The implementation of all or some of the recommendations will continue to move the accounting curriculum towards a solutions focused learning (SFL) model. SFL involves learning by doing – live projects, team work and reflective thinking by the student.

The recommendations are divided into four categories: course deletion and addition; course sequencing within the program; and course instructional materials and technology and other. Additional information for the recommendation can be found on the pages that follow this summary page. Implementation of the recommendations will not change the number of credit hours or program length.

Course Deletion and Addition:

1. Delete ECO331 Macroeconomics for Business

2. Add a five workshop managerial finance course to replace the ECO331

Course Sequencing within the Program:

3. Move ADM448, Strategic Planning, so that it follows ADM201 (the first course) and comes before ACC311, Intermediate Accounting I

4. Place the Managerial Finance course (see 2 above) after ADM 448 and before ACC311, Intermediate Accounting I

Course Instructional Materials and Technology:

5. Integrate a writing component for accountants into the ADM 448, Strategic Planning, The recommended textbook is, Effective Writing -- A Handbook for Accountants, 258 pages. Half of the material in the effective writing textbook would be covered during ADM 448. The students would be instructed to keep the textbook. The remaining half of the textbook would be covered in ACC491, Accounting Seminar.

6. Recommend adding the following textbook to ACC491, Accounting Seminar, Core Concepts of Accounting Information Systems, 10th Edition, Bagranoff, paperback, 528 pages. Also, complete the effective writing material as noted above.

7. Issue a notebook computer with appropriate software at the beginning of the program to each student.

Other

Prepare a list of relevant elective courses for the student that desires to sit for the CPA Examination which requires 150 credit hours of undergraduate course work.

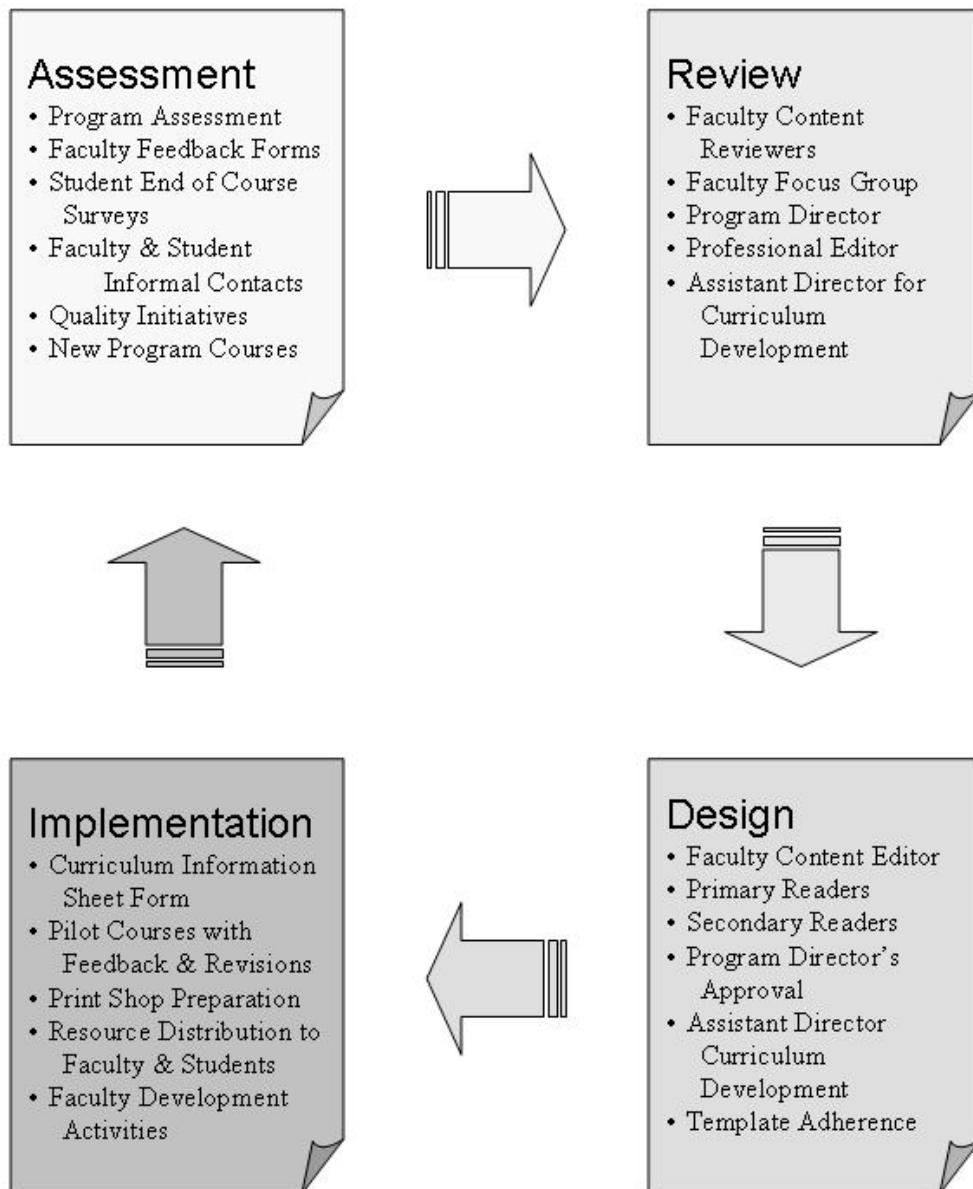

BSMK Assessment

- Alumni Survey – 13 students responded over a 313 day period between 1/16/06 and 11/24/06
- 100% of the respondents were “Very Satisfied” or “Satisfied” with their BSMK Degree
- Student comments called
 - for more diversity in faculty
 - less group work and projects
 - job placement
- Most student comments were positive and indicated no need to make any changes to the program design, make up or length
- Assessment Plan Results
 - Due to the small size of the program fewer than 25 papers were reviewed for MGT425, MKG496 and MKG353
 - The scores for MGT425 papers were below the identified Assessment Criteria – MGT425 underwent a major revision after the BSMK assessment day
 - The scores for MKG496 papers were below the identified Assessment Criteria – just prior to the assessment day the course was revised to include a more prescriptive approach to the assignments
 - The scores for MKG353 papers were below the identified Assessment Criteria – assessment data will drive the next scheduled revision of the course.

Data/Analysis	Need	Action and Stakeholder Involvement	Evaluation of Action	Follow-up
1. An examination of available program summary data shows a small increase in all program domains, with the exception of technology. Technology decreased slightly from the previous year. The area known as “spiritual” was again scored high for the second year in the row with a mean score of 3.71. End of Course Survey results also support that faculty are doing a better job of integrating faith with the area of “spiritual” achieving a mean score of 4.80, the highest of all domains measured by the End of Course Survey.	Mean scores reported for the five program domains are the results of four assessments equally weighted and aligned to the five program domains: End-of-Course Survey data, Faculty Feedback Forms, Faculty Observation Forms, and Graduation Survey data. There is concern over the current manner in which program assessment summary data are gathered and that mean scores reported within the current system may not accurately reflect the extent to which program domains are being addressed.	M.Ed. faculty are currently working with Dan Wright at LAT to revise the current Program Assessment System and to align it to the new Unit Conceptual Framework. Moreover, new assessment collection forms have been developed to more accurately analyze the extent to which M.Ed. Candidates are performing within each of the program domains.	It is anticipated that the new M.Ed. Program Assessment System will be functional by the end of July. M.Ed. faculty will carefully monitor the assessment results to determine that data is reliable and valid. Moreover, this data will be evaluated at each of the newly revised program gateways to determine if M.Ed. candidates are performing satisfactorily.
2. An analysis of technology data gathered from the use of MyITLabs supports the belief that technology results for M.Ed. candidates with regard to technology proficiency is being skewed negatively.	In the spring of 2008, it was noted that a problem existed with the manner in which MyITLabs was evaluating M.Ed. candidate efficacy with technology. The online assessment system used to evaluate M.Ed. candidate performance in EDU 554 was not giving credit for correct answers.	M.Ed. administrative faculty met with representatives from Pearson (owners of MyITLab) and were unable to resolve the issue of M.Ed. candidates being scored incorrectly. Subsequently, a decision was made in May 2008 to drop MyITLabs and to purge data collected from the current Program Assessment System.	M.Ed. faculty have since revised the EDU 554, Technology in Education course and M.Ed. candidate mastery of technology proficiency is demonstrated through portfolio artifact exhibits scored by the Instructor/Advisor. M.Ed. faculty will be making a determination if additional technology assessments are needed to evaluate M.Ed. candidates.

3. An analysis of portfolio exhibit scores posted to the Program Assessment System by M.Ed. Instructor/Advisors suggests the need for additional training on how to consistently and fairly evaluate candidate's portfolio exhibits.	There is a need to create an improved training regimen for M.Ed. Instructor/Advisors and for M.Ed. Mentor/Observers who serve as clinical faculty within the program. Moreover, the program needs to schedule days to allow for M.Ed. faculty to participate in internal validity studies with respect to the scoring of candidate portfolios.	A subcommittee of M.Ed. faculty and administrative faculty has been created to: 1. Revise and update Instructor/Advisor and Mentor/Observer handbooks. 2. Develop a training program for both Instructor/Advisors and Mentor/Observers to be implemented during 2008-2009. Moreover, the M.Ed. Curriculum Coordinator is working to develop an EDU 559, Portfolio Syllabus that will improve the consistency by which M.Ed. candidate portfolios are current evaluated.	Training for all Instructor/Advisors and Mentor/Observers will commence in August 2008. Moreover, M.Ed. faculty will regularly participate in internal validity studies during 2008-2009 that will be documented and included as a component of future Annual Assessment Reports.
4. An examination of the CAPS Bulletin indicates that errors exist with regard to M.Ed. program requirements and expectations.	Recommendations need to be brought forward to the Academic Affairs Council to correct concerns over the current M.Ed. program admission requirements, program decision points (gateways), and terminology used to reference the program's central theme of world changers.	The M.Ed. faculty and director have reviewed the CAPS bulletin and a recommendation will be made to the Academic Affairs Council regarding changes needed to the CAPS bulletin in July 2008.	Changes to the CAPS bulletin will be monitored and documented during the 2008-2009 year.

5. End of course feedback collected from M.Ed. Transition candidates reveal problems with the bridge from the Transition to Teaching program to the Master's of Education program.	M.Ed. candidates were completing EDUE 549 as a means of bridging over from the Transition to Teaching Program to the Master's of Education Program. This proved to be an ineffective bridge transition and many MEDT candidates struggled with program requirements (such as the portfolio) due to missing the Portfolio Orientation and Assessment Day #1.	The bridge transition for MEDT candidates was changed and effective August 2008, MEDT candidates will no longer complete EDUE 549 and will instead be enrolled into EDU 559A and will meet immediately with their Instructor/Advisor who will be responsible for providing an effective orientation to the program and its requirements.	End of course feedback for MEDT candidates will continue to be monitored carefully during 2008-2009 to determine if the concerns raised prior to 2008 have been adequately addressed.
6. A Curriculum Audit conducted in October 2007 indicated the need for additional curriculum revisions to insure consistency between candidate course modules and faculty course modules. Moreover, there were concerns raised at the Curriculum Audit over the need to have separate state-specific curriculum guides to insure compliance with state expectations over the alignment of M.Ed. program domains and individual state teaching standards.	M.Ed. faculty need to develop state-specific course syllabi for the M.Ed. program that will address program consistency and continuity as well as concerns raised by candidates with respect to errors in references made to candidate's texts, etc. Separate course guides could be warehoused on Blackboard for those faculty requiring additional assistance with respect to workshop agendas, suggested devotionals, scoring guides, and other important course management needs.	The M.Ed. Assistant Director serving as the Curriculum Coordinator for the program with work with M.Ed. fulltime faculty to move the program away from course modules to course syllabi. Every effort will be made to complete this transition to course syllabi by September 1, 2008.	During the 2008-2009 year, a Curriculum Audit will be conducted with M.Ed. faculty to gather information in an effort to determine if concerns noted in 2007 have been adequately addressed through the creation of M.Ed. course syllabi. This information will be further examined as a part of the Annual Assessment Day for the M.Ed. program.

7. M.Ed. Alumni Survey data demonstrates that M.Ed. candidates feel that the program positively impacted their effectiveness in collaborating with colleagues to improve curriculum, assessment, instruction, and learning.	While the M.Ed. Alumni Survey results are positive, an examination of the current Program Assessment System does not demonstrate how M.Ed. faculty and administrative faculty measure the impact of the program on P-12 learning.	Within the M.Ed. Program Assessment System, provisions need to be made for evaluating the complete extent to which M.Ed. candidates are positively affecting the P-12 learning environment. This would include not only their impact on collaboration with P-12 colleagues, but evidence of the impact candidates are having in improving P-12 student learning.	During 2008-2009, M.Ed. faculty and administrative faculty will work with Program Assessment System designers to document data that will assist in the determination of M.Ed. candidate impact on the P-12 learning environment. This data will be collected and analyzed through the newly revised Program Assessment System.
8. Survey results from M.Ed. Alumni suggest that at least 40% of candidates graduating from the program would like to see a greater emphasis placed on managing classroom learning.	The current M.Ed. program is largely focused on the development of curriculum and instruction that is able to meet the needs of the P-12 learner through a constructivist approach to teaching and learning. There is a need among current P-12 educators to have an improved knowledge base with respect to dealing with the struggling P-12 learner, particularly those P-12 learners who exhibit maladaptive classroom behaviors.	Over the next year, M.Ed. faculty will look at the current course sequence and individual course objectives to identify ways to improve the focus on the management of classroom learning. This may include, but not be limited to the revision of an existing course or courses and the possibility of completely rewriting an existing course to include a stronger emphasis on the management of classroom learning.	M.Ed. faculty will analyze the M.Ed. Alumni results carefully and will work with the M.Ed. Curriculum Coordinator to identify areas within existing courses to better address the management of classroom learning (short term action). Moreover, discussions during the next year will center around whether or not it is time to develop a course dedicated to the concept of managing classroom learning (long term action).

9. An examination of M.Ed. alumni data indicated high marks with regard to candidate satisfaction with the program. However, M.Ed. online students reported that they experienced more rigor with regard to the M.Ed. curriculum than those onsite M.Ed. candidates who responded.	There is a need to insure consistency with regard to program rigor between online and onsite M.Ed. candidates. Moreover, an improved focus on scholarship should accompany revisions currently being made to M.Ed. course syllabi.	As M.Ed. faculty and administrative faculty work to revise course syllabi, consideration is being given to incorporating additional scholarship components that will require the candidate to demonstrate the ability to show effective use of electronic reference materials and the ability to demonstrate scholarship through graduate level writing.	Scholarship will be evaluated through the use of four distinct assessment collection forms to be gathered through the revised Program Assessment System. This includes scholarship assessment forms to measure the candidate in EDU 545 (Literature Review), EDU 550 (Curriculum Goals Chart), EDU 553 (the PISCO Assessment Paper), and EDU 551 (the developed of four, instructional plans for P-12 students). It will also be a requirement that M.Ed. candidates complete an orientation with an OCLS (Off Campus Library Services) reference librarian prior to completing EDU 545.
10. An examination of faculty observation form data and faculty load data indicates the need to have an improved system for managing and sharing adjunct faculty.	Adjunct faculty currently are teaching in multiple programs and program schedulers have struggled with tracking faculty load and coordinating faculty observations.	A recommendation has been sent to the Dean to permit fulltime faculty to have three hours for administrative load release to assist in the management of adjunct faculty around the state.	During the next year, Dr. Oliver and Dr. Batson will work with the Associate Dean and other program directors to adopt a unit faculty structure that will address current concerns.

Principal Licensure Program

Director: Mike Trego

The PLP faculty annually analyzes data from the Unit Assessment System and conduct Program Assessment Days (Focus Groups) to recommend changes. Full-time faculty, adjunct faculty, students, and alumni attend Program Assessment Days to provide input and guidance. A curriculum steering committee summarizes results and makes recommendations for future changes. Full-time faculty members are charged with implementing the needed changes.

Transition to Teaching/Career Builders Program

Director: Ted Batson

The Department conducted an Annual Assessment Day in July which included focus groups with faculty, students, school officials and other stakeholders. Data from an Alumni Survey and Principal Survey indicated that TTT alumni perform more effectively in the classroom than graduates of traditional programs.

Data/Analysis	Need	Action and Stakeholder Involvement	Evaluation of Action	Follow-up
1. Multiple candidates are being temporarily withdrawn from the program until all Praxis One subtest are passed.	There is a need to reduce this disruption of the candidates' progress toward a teaching license and withdrawal and reentry issues in the financial aid and other offices affected.	The ATLP faculty recommended that one of two of the three Praxis One sub-tests be an admission requirement for TTT and CBE-I. This was approved by the GEM and AAC.	Candidate withdrawal data and program enrollment data will be monitored with results submitted at Program Assessment Day 2009 for review and possible recommendations.
2. An audit of the CBE/TTT pool revealed that there is a severe shortage of professors holding doctorates with advanced training in the areas of exceptional need learners; reading and elementary school science math and social studies.	An alternate faculty development model is needed that would provide faculty with advanced and recent knowledge of elementary content areas and extensive and recent experience in teaching K-12 students.	The Professor in Preparation faculty development model was designed to provide the needed level of expertise for all related courses. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	The PIP Pilot Year Report will be presented at the 2008 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
3. A number of K-12 teachers and administrators questioned the sufficiency of the number of contact hours in the TTT alternative student teaching model in order to	There is a need to increase the number of contact hours for candidates in the TTT alternative student teaching model in order to	The number of weeks for EDU575 Student Teaching One and EDU579 Student Teaching Two were increased for both secondary and elementary	A report of the number of School corporations failing to sign or renew cooperation agreements due to alternative student

For elementary candidates, EDU581 Student Teaching Three was increased to 17 weeks and the one week all day experience was moved to EDU 581 and expanded to two weeks. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	teaching model will be present at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
4. A restudy of the legislation mandating the TTT program and its intent leads us to believe that including students who are not in full-time employment is not in compliance with the intent of this Indiana law.	The Career Builders for Educators-Initial licensure program is not intended for working adults and should not use an alternative student teaching model.	A policy was enacted and implemented that candidates working 20 hours or less a week would not qualify for the TTT program and would be CBE-I candidates who have a traditional model 17 week student teaching experience. Approval was sought and gained from the Federal government to convert the ATLP courses from the term calendar to the non-term calendar without jeopardizing candidates' eligibility for financial aid. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	The enrollment of CBE-I candidates will be monitored and reported at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.

5. A survey of EDU578 faculty found that the length of the first two workshops is insufficient in length. Data from Candidate end-of-course surveys revealed that a number of the candidates had difficulty beginning their first online course and Student Teaching One at the same time.	There is a need to adjust the length of the first two workshops in the EDU578 Content Methods of Instruction in the Senior High/Junior High/ Middle Schools course.	The first two workshops of EDU578 were increased from one to two weeks in length, and the cohort course schedules were adjusted so that EDU578 and EDU575 were not starting the same week. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM.	Candidate End-of Course data and program withdrawal data will be monitored with results submitted at Program Assessment Day 2009 for review and possible recommendations.
6. End of course feedback and Academic Advisor information revealed that more time was needed in EDU577 and EDU580 for the candidates to have a more confident base of knowledge.	That the number of workshops in EDU577 Methods of Teaching Elementary Curriculum and EDU580 Reading Instruction for Elementary Grades is insufficient.	EDU577 Methods of Teaching Elementary Curriculum and EDU580 Reading Instruction for Elementary Grades changed from 8 to 10 workshop courses and EDU578 Content Methods of Instruction in the Senior High/Junior High/ Middle Schools changed from six workshops to eight. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	A summary of the 2008-2009 academic year's Candidate End-of-Course Survey comments for these courses will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.

7. Faculty feedback indicates that the candidates do not understand the interconnectedness of learning theory, students' developmental levels, psychology of child and young adult management at the high level that the program desires.	There is a need to tie the Educational Psychology theories and child development knowledge to specific teaching in assessment, curriculum, and instruction theory and practice.	EDU571 Psychology of Learning removed from curriculum and its Educational Psychology content integrated across key assessment and instructional methods courses. To facilitate this additional content EDU573 Assessment and Learning and EDU576 General Methods of Instruction were increased from four to six workshops. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	Data from the Candidate Pedagogical Exams in EDU573, EDU576, and EDU580 will be aggregated and presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
8. 9. Participant feedback from the 2006 TTT Program Assessment Day revealed that the professionals who teach the program's courses and observe its student teachers believe that additional emphasis should be placed on candidate non-academic characteristics.	A means of assessing candidates' dispositions should be created and become a part of the pre-student teaching and student teaching phases of TTT and CBE-I.	Non-student teaching and student teaching dispositions assessment forms were created, dispositions was made a part of key assessment points of candidates' progress, and a system was developed to assist and monitor candidates with dispositional deficiencies. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	Result from the Faculty Candidate Disposition Checklist and the Cooperation Teacher Candidate Disposition Assessment Form will be aggregated and presented to the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
10. Candidates' End-of-Course data report excessive stress during Student Teaching One and Student Teaching Two.	The term calendar, with its student course load financial aid eligibility requirements, needs to be changed for a model friendlier to working adults.	A successful petition was made to the federal financial aid authorities to convert the TTT and Career Builders for Educators Initial Licensure programs to the non-term calendar model allowing a reduction of other courses taken during student teaching. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	A summary of candidate comments from the Candidate End-of-Course Surveys and candidate withdrawal data between Student Teaching One and Two courses will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and recommendations.

11. The Indiana Department of Education initiated IMAP Survey's data indicate that IWU program completers are not as well prepared for effectively teaching exceptional needs students as the University's mission would require. .	A more integrated model of instruction is needed to prepare candidates at an acceptable level. .	The EDU572 The Exceptional Child will be removed from the curriculum for Elementary Candidates and its content will be integrated into the assessment and instruction courses: EDU573, EDU576, EDU570, EDU577, EDU580, and EDU582 for elementary candidates and EDU573, EDU576 and EDU570. Secondary candidates will take a one semester hour EDU572 The Exceptional Child course that emphasizes instructional strategies for older students. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	A comparison of the IMAP scores for 2008 and 2009 will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and recommendations.

The Educational Professional Standards Board in Kentucky withdrew approval of the Rank I program on January 22, 2007 due to the third party vendors offering elective classes.	Contracts with Canter and Associates, Inc. and Performance Learning Systems in Kentucky needed to be terminated.	Contracts for Kentucky with Canter and Associates, Inc. and Performance Learning Systems were terminated.
With the elimination of Canter and PLS electives, candidates were left without IWU electives. Those in remote areas were without any means of taking electives from IWU.	Both Rank I and MED candidates need electives to satisfy the requirements of the program. IWU did not have the electives to meet that need.	Strands of specialized courses were developed to meet the need for electives in Kentucky. Nine areas were approved, with only two being offered immediately. The others will be offered as soon as they are developed and there is faculty available to teach them. This was done in collaboration among the MED directors, the Kentucky Director of Education, and the Assistant Director of Rank I. Six courses were developed that are a part of two strands. EDU 555, EDU 587, and EDU 588 are courses in the Curriculum and Instruction specializations; EDUE 624, EDUE 631, and EDUE 635 are courses in the Literacy specialization. See Academic Affairs Minutes, April 14, 2007.	When the cohorts are started again, end of course surveys and the selection of courses will be monitored to make sure these courses are meeting the needs of candidates.

T

End of course surveys, Faculty Feedback Forms, and data collected from candidate focus groups showed a weakness in the content of EDUE 614 and EDUE 611.	There was a need to substantially revise the content of these courses.	EDUE 614 was eliminated from Rank I . This choice was made based upon the emphasis in Kentucky on Teacher Leadership. Some of the content of EDUE 611 was moved to EDUE 608 and the research analysis of the course was strengthened. The Kentucky Director of Education and the Assistant Director of Rank I made these decisions since there was no full-time Rank I faculty. Feedback was obtained from adjunct faulty who taught these courses.	End of course surveys and Faculty Feedback Forms will be monitored for candidate feedback on the courses.
End of Curse Surveys, Faculty Feedback Forms, and data collected from candidate focus groups showed a need for the revision of content in all Rank I courses to increase the scholarship as well as the application to the classroom. In some cases, textbooks were either absent or unsuitable. A complete curriculum audit was made to look at course descriptions, objectives, textbooks, and assessments.	There was a need to revise all of the Rank I courses we well as new add courses to meet the requirements of the Kentucky Teacher Standards. New texts needed to be chosen to replace those that candidates found less than useful.	All Rank I courses were revised and taken to Academic Affairs on April 14, 2007. This included revision of the course descriptions, objectives, and assignments to bring more coherency, better application to the classroom, and more scholarship. New texts were chosen for some of the courses. In addition, the Professional Core was moved from 18 credits to 24 credits with the addition of EDUE 615 Instructional Leadership, EDUE 620 Mentoring and Coaching, and EDUE 622 Reading, Writing, and Content Learning. The Kentucky Director of Education and the Assistant Director of Rank I made these decisions since there was no full-time Rank I faculty. Feedback was obtained from adjunct faulty who taught these courses.	End of Course surveys, Faculty Feedback forms, and candidate focus group data will be monitored to determine the effectiveness of the new program.

Exceptional Learners Online and Onsite Educators Programs

Directors: Yvonne Kirk and Tammy Mahon

Data/Analysis	Need	Action and Stakeholder Involvement	Evaluation of Action	Follow-up
1. Candidates were not completing the portfolio requirement in a timely fashion resulting in many either dropping the program or exceeding the three year timeframe for emergency licenses. Candidates reported in End of Course Surveys excessive stress during this period and not enough monitoring to keep them on track. Candidates complained that the portfolio was too much work for 2 credit hours.	There is a need to reduce this disruption of the candidates' progress toward exceptional learners teaching license and withdrawal and reentry issues in the financial aid and other offices affected. There was a need to justify and instill the importance of the portfolio requirement, by shorting the length, thereby allowing for closer monitoring and involvement by candidates and professors.	The ATLP faculty recommended separating the portfolio into four sections with each section serving as a "gate," and earning 1 credit hour for each section. This was approved by the GEM and AAC.	Candidate withdrawal data and program enrollment data will be monitored with results submitted at the 2008 Online Assessment Week Report and the Program Assessment Day 2009 for review and possible recommendations.
2. An audit of the ELMO/ELM pool revealed that there is a severe shortage of professors holding doctorates with advanced training in the areas of exceptional need learners; reading and elementary school science math and social studies.	An alternate faculty development model is needed that would provide faculty with advanced and recent knowledge of elementary content areas and extensive and recent experience in teaching K-12 students.	The Professor in Preparation faculty development model was designed to provide the needed level of expertise for all related courses. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	The PIP Pilot Year Report will be presented at the 2008 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.

3. An audit of the ELMO/ELM pool revealed that professors would like more opportunities to interact with other professors to exchange ideas and	There is a need to increase the number of opportunities for faculty to interact and share ideas and experiences.	Inter-rater reliability activities have been designed to facilitate the sharing of information in courses being taught and to insure consistency in grading of the portfolio.	An Inter-rater Reliability report will be presented at the 2008 Online Assessment Week and the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
4. An audit of the ELMO/ELM pool indicated that the recommended instruction concepts are somewhat effective in helping them facilitate the courses that they instruct, however they would like more teaching tips and a Professor Resource Guide.	Faculty guides are not consistent in providing instructional recommendations.	Faculty guides are being rewritten with input and suggestions from senior professors and course writers.	Professor End-of-Course Survey results will be reported from the the 2008 Online Assessment Week and the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
5. A candidate End-of- Course Survey indicated that the faculty could use help in providing a variety of instruction approaches in their teaching.	There could be a need for facilitators and/or course materials that point out to students the various instructional approaches being used. Our delivery system employs various approaches; however the students group them together as being online and may not be aware of the various strategies.	Course materials will pinpoint the various instruction strategies being used in courses.	Professor End-of-Course Survey results will be reported from the the 2008 Online Assessment Week and the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and recommendations.

6. A survey of EDU534 faculty found that the Teaching the Exceptional Needs Learner curriculum was lacking in content and not addressing enough of the areas needed by exceptional needs teachers.	There is a need to rewrite this course using a different textbook and materials to address the deficiency	Course was rewritten. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM.	An analysis of the course and End-of-Course Survey comments for this course will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
1. Discovery that the program did not have a technology course.	There is a need to include a technology course for exceptional needs teacher candidates.	EDU574 Facilitating Learning Through Technology I was added to the ELMO/ELM program. The EDS545 Study Skills for the Exceptional Learners was Incorporated into the EDS534 Teaching the Exceptional Needs Learner. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	A summary of the 2008-2009 academic year's Candidate End-of-Course Survey will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
8. Although writing IEPS is covered in coursework, Student feedback indicates that candidates need more information in writing Individual Education Plans, (IEP).	There is a need to Provide candidates with a resource guide for writing IEPs.	An Individual Lesson Plan textbook was added to the EDS520 course to provide students with a resource for writing good IEPS.	A summary of the 2008-2009 academic year's Candidate End-of-Course Survey comments on the IEP will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.

9. An audit of faculty revealed the lack of a structured system for providing feedback about the curriculum and assessment after teaching a course.	The ELMO/ELM Programs needs to implement a faculty feedback form to be filled out after teaching each course.	ELMO/ELM has implemented an online faculty feedback form.	A summary of the 2008-2009 academic year's Candidate End-of-Course Survey comments on the IEP will be presented at the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.
10. Candidate feedback from the ELMO/ELM 2007 Online Assessment Week Program revealed that the professionals who teach the program's courses and observe its student teachers believe that additional emphasis should be placed on candidate non-academic characteristics.	A means of assessing candidates' dispositions should be created and become a part of the pre-student teaching and student teaching phases of ELMO/ELM.	Non-student teaching and student teaching dispositions assessment forms were created, dispositions were made a part of key assessment points of candidates' progress, and a system was developed to assist and monitor candidates with dispositional deficiencies. This was recommended by the ATLP faculty and approved by the GEM and AAC.	Result from the Faculty Candidate Disposition Checklist and the Cooperation Teacher Candidate Disposition Assessment Form will be aggregated and presented to the 2009 Program Assessment Day for review and possible recommendations.

Changes based on assessment

Change	Assessment Data Used (rationale)
Based on assessment data there are no changes indicated in this assignment. Students are in the second course of the nursing core when this assignment is completed. Faculty indicated it was a strength to see this level of critical thinking at this stage in the program.	NUR 205 Nursing's Role in the Health Care System Assessment data spring 2008 indicates that 100% of the papers scored (23), demonstrated proficiency on the Exemplar Assignment by the faculty assessment team. Assessment Plan states that 85% of portfolio inclusions sampled will assume professional responsibility for the design, management and coordination of outcome oriented comprehensive nursing care in an evolving health care system (Objective #2). Assessment indicated proficiency of 3.62 on a 4.0 scale.
Provide a packet to accompany the NUR 490 faculty guide which includes an exemplary sample of each written assignment.	NUR 490 Management in Nursing Assessment data spring 2008 indicates that 45.83% of the papers scored (24) demonstrated proficiency on the Management Project Proposal by the faculty assessment team. Assessment Plan states that 85% of portfolio inclusions sampled will assume professional responsibility for the design, management and coordination of outcome oriented comprehensive nursing care in an evolving health care system (Objective #2). Assessment indicated proficiency of 2.84 on a 4.0 scale. These papers were all written 2/2007 and 10/2007. In 9/2007 two faculty members developed a power point presentation on goal writing which was circulated to all faculty members who facilitate the NUR 490 Management course. This was based on a recognized need for strengthening goal writing in the curriculum.
Highlight important points that faculty should look for in the finished product.
Packet to include info on how to prepare students for the assignments (more details than in the Faculty Guide). This info would also provide assistance for the faculty in guiding student assignments to meet the one or more program objectives.
Determine if all faculty are using the power point in their pre-class visit for NUR 490; if not, encourage them to do so.

The Liberal Arts and Electives department continued to revise curriculum based on End of Course Survey data and Faculty Feedback.

Liberal Arts and Electives piloted the Collegiate Learning Assessment on a cohort of beginning (UNV111) students and a graduating bachelor of accounting group of students. This tool might be a useful assessment of critical thinking, analytic reasoning and communication skills of adult students. Data from this assessment are pending.

Chair: Russ Gunsalus

Student / Potential Student Focus Groups

Department Chair Russ Gunsalus: Student focus groups have been conducted by Professor Gunsalus to ascertain student satisfaction with the program along with improvements. In addition, Professor Gunsalus has engaged potential students one-on-one at various Wesleyan venues. Professor Gunsalus interviews various faculty to acquire ideas for improvement of courses.

Associate Professor Bob Whitesel: Associate professor Bob Whitesel has conducted focus groups on student satisfaction and program improvement with students enrolled in the summer elective courses in Indianapolis, IN and Marion, IN. In addition, Dr. Whitesel engages potential students at his many seminars, gleaning insights for marketing, degree expectation, suitability of faculty, and issues of practical application.

Professor Charlie Alcock: Professor Alcock continues to engage both potential and current students in a one-on-one dialogue on the viability and relevance of our Masters of Art in Youth Ministry. In addition, his mentorship of students allows Professor Alcock to assemble student insights and expectations into tactical plans.

Entrance and Exit Surveys:

Entrance and Exit Surveys have been standardized and now are administered to all incoming and matriculating students. These surveys are analyzed by the director along with relevant faculty and the IWU Assessment Staff to evaluate attainment of program goals, student satisfaction levels, and learning objectives.

End-of Course Surveys:

The End of Course Survey for Graduate Studies in Ministry continues to be administered by Chau Jackson, Assessment Specialist, in the same manner as other AGS courses are assessed. Relevant comments are forwarded to appropriate faculty, including face-to-face meetings with the chairperson as warranted.

Improvements / Changes:

As a result, there have been changes in structure and delivery of both onsite and online courses.

Onsite and Online: Changes based on assessment strategies and processes include:

- Curricular revision based on student and focus group feedback. The most significant revision is with the capstone course. The current schedule of 8 weeks has proven to be too short to adequately accomplish the outcomes for the course. This course has revised from one 3 credit class to two classes. One class for 1 credit 2/3 of the way through the program and then a final 2 credit course at the end of the program.

- Due to the results of our focus group meetings we have reorganized the curriculum so that the theoretical and application courses alternate instead of being all clustered together.
- Calendar revision based upon student feedback. Last year the Youth concentration has also been adjusted to 10 days during the summer months when summer camps and mission trips, with their attendant disruption of online access make it nearly impossible to keep up with the 7 day schedule. We have extended this calendar innovation to the Leadership cohorts as well.

The popularity of this move with the youth cohorts and the fact that the leadership cohorts share the same issues which motivated this change in the first place.

Graduate Studies in Nursing

Chair: Pam Giles

Graduate Studies in Nursing participated in an EBI Benchmarking Study. Graduating students were sent a questionnaire to complete. Data from 71 graduates indicate that our strongest areas are “quality and availability of curriculum,” “quality of support services,” “role development,” and “core knowledge.” Weak areas include “clinical: lab procedures and course work.” Benchmark data indicate that compared to other graduate nursing programs the IWU program has “room to grow.”

Change	Assessment Data Used (rationale)
Revised the Post-Masters Certificate (PMC) plan of study	Attempting to meet student demand for a lock-step approach to the PMC, as well as to bring it in line with the degree programs.
New policy for a student who has not attended class for 180 days or more, but has not withdrawn from the program.	We discovered several students who had not completed program requirements, yet had not attended class for a significant amount of time. Concerns were raised about the currency and validity of their knowledge.
Changed from MS to MSN degree	Significant feedback from current students and alumni and employers – all who did not want to accept the MS with a major in nursing as an employable degree.

Graduate Counseling

Chair: Mark Gerig

This past year, the Graduate Studies in Counseling program added a program to its evaluation plan. In a review of the assessment plan, it was noted that there was no objective regarding student proficiency in their specific area of specialization (i.e., Addictions Counseling, Community Counseling , Marriage and Family Therapy, or School Counseling). The following objective was added: Students will demonstrate proficiency in their selected area of specialization. This will be implemented in the 2008-2009 academic year and be measured through the submissions of portfolio exhibits and performance on a comprehensive exam (to be constructed by department faculty).

Graduate Counseling Assessment Plan

Objectives	Criteria and Procedures	Assessment Results	Use of Results
1. Students will demonstrate mastery of comprehensive counseling curriculum	a. 95% pass rate on certification exam(of those who choose to take it) b. 90% Portfolio submissions reflect high comprehension as judged by a faculty designed rubric.	06-07: All nine graduates passed the NCE exam. 2007-2008: Six students took the NCE; all six passed the exam.
2. Students will demonstrate competence in reading, interpreting, evaluating and applying scholarly research	a. 90% of students will produce a scholarly research proposal which is scored 2 out of 3 points on a faculty-written rubric. b. 90% of research papers in portfolio will reflect mastery of reading, interpreting, evaluating and applying scholarly research	a. 06: 10% scored proficient	APA Workshop
3. Students will demonstrate clinical proficiency.	a. 90% of students will have 75% of clients report positive change on client survey. b. 100% of students will score "proficient" on clinical skills as measured by a faculty designed rubric of clinical experience.	100% reported that they would return for counseling again if needed. 96% reported that they were very satisfied with their counseling experience. 2007-2008: 94% of clients responding state they would return for counseling services if needed. 91% of clients responding state they were satisfied with their counseling experience.
4. Students will demonstrate multicultural awareness in clinical practice.	Students' post tests on Multicultural Competency Scale show 50% improvement (Multicultural Counseling Course)	06-07: Awareness of Cultural values and biases: 34% increase Awareness of clients' worldview: 45% increase Awareness of their clients' worldview: 45% increase 2007-2008: Awareness of Own Values and Biases – 33% increase Awareness of Client's Worldview: 45% increase Culturally Appropriate Intervention Strategies: 40.5% increase	06-07: Focus group with minority students

5. Students will demonstrate professional integrity	90% of sampled graduates will be scored superior by supervisors and employers on professional integrity.	Employer Survey: 4.85 (of 5) on professional integrity.
6. Students will demonstrate an ability to integrate faith with the counseling profession.	Portfolio submission: 90% of students will score “proficient” on a faculty-designed rubric for a faith-integration paper.	44% proficient
7. Students will demonstrate proficiency in communication skills.	Papers, presentations, clinical portfolio: 90% of student will score “superior” on faculty-designed rubrics.	40% scored proficient 0% scored superior
8. Students will demonstrate proficiency in their selected area of specialization.	Portfolio exhibits and comprehensive exam will demonstrate proficiency as measured by a faculty designed rubric.	(2007-2008: This objective was approved and added by departmental faculty upon recognition that specialization knowledge and skills were not being effectively measured by seven existing objectives).	(2008-2009: A qualifying/comprehensive exam will be constructed for each use as pre-/post-measure for measurement of sample specialization (i.e., CC, MFT, SC, AC) knowledge and skills attained.)

Doctorate in Organizational Leadership

Chair: Vern Ludden

DOL faculty developed a rubric for evaluating the comprehensive examination (comp exam) for each doctoral student because the exam and a student's dissertation are the best outcome measurements for the program.

Each comp exam is evaluated by three faculty members. Data indicated the two portions of the comp exam that have the lowest scores were papers that demonstrate scholarship and exhibits that demonstrate how students apply theories they have learned in the program (praxis). Students did well in developing their leadership philosophy papers and their long range leadership development plans.

Faculty members discussed the performance of each student in the seven specific program domains to consider strengths and weaknesses of the program. Thus, there was both a quantitative and qualitative evaluation of the outcomes of each comprehensive exam. This data was reviewed by the faculty at a day-long curriculum review meeting on January 7 and then addressed at subsequent monthly faculty meetings. This resulted in some significant changes that have been made in the DOL program.

The department considers data gathered from the comprehensive exams to be the most accurate measurement of the program's educational outcomes and its effectiveness. The use of comprehensive exams will remain the primary assessment tool in 2008-2009 and the data will be supplemented by a qualitative assessment of completed dissertations by the faculty and adjunct dissertation committee members. When there are a sufficient number of graduates from the program, the faculty will conduct a meeting with those graduates to gather additional assessment data.

Changes based on assessment

Change	Assessment Data Used (rationale)
A substantial revision of the first three courses in DOL program (DOL 715 Leadership and Personal Development, DOL 720 Critical Inquiry, and DOL 735 – Advanced Leadership Theory) were made to assist students to better understand scholarship, theory, and research.	Scholarly papers and exhibits in the portfolios that are part of the comprehensive exam indicated that students had not mastered a basic understanding of key theories in the various domains but more importantly did not seem to appreciate the importance that theory could play not only in their scholarship but in their practice of leadership. This conclusion was reached when we considered the low ratings on scholarly papers and leadership exhibits that students received during their comprehensive exams. It was determined that if faculty would concentrate on establishing a better foundation of scholarship and a

	more fundamental understanding of leadership theory as the students began the program, their knowledge and appreciation of theory and theorists would increase. This comprehensive understanding of leadership theory would then under gird the student's ability to apply research to their practice of leadership.
The course descriptions and objectives for all courses in the DOL curriculum were reviewed and revised to reflect educational outcomes that are more consistent with the program's conceptual framework.	There are three sources of data for these changes. First, we used the comprehensive exam papers of students to assess what students had learned. Second, we conducted individual meetings with students during evening hours of the summer institute, lunch and coffee meetings throughout the year, and student feedback that is solicited during and after classes for a course are completed. Third, we considered how the field of leadership has developed in the past five years since the curriculum was originally written by reading books, research articles, and attending professional leadership conferences. The course descriptions and objectives had not been revised since the curriculum was first written in 2003-2004. The faculty now has 3-4 years of experience teaching the courses in the curriculum with a corresponding amount of feedback from students. In addition, we were able to compile and apply our observations and conclusions from two years of comprehensive exams to the revision of the curriculum.
The seminar and internship courses DOL 760 a, b, & c; DOL 860 a, b, & c; and DOL 865 a, b, & c that are required each term—other than the summer residency term—have been changed to emphasize the application of theory to leadership. They now have the course titles Seminars and Praxis.	The seminar courses have had their name changed from Seminars and Internship to Seminars and Praxis. The rationale for this change is to better reflect the reality of the student's employment status and experience. A student must be in a leadership position as a requirement for admission to the program. This makes them experienced and practicing leaders. An internship conveys the idea of someone inexperienced being given an opportunity to learn about a profession. The intent of these courses is to help students apply theory to practice (praxis) and we thought the course title and curriculum should be modified to reflect this expectation. We have altered the type of guest speakers that now present at our seminars. During the first three years of the program, all guest speakers were selected because

	of their outstanding leadership. We are now inviting one speaker each term that is a well known scholar of leadership and the other a well known leader that is practicing leadership. We also have attempted to invite leaders that represent a broad range of organizations rather than just selecting leaders from business. This is consistent with the fact that only forty percent of the DOL students come from business related organizations. This balance of speakers helps students better understand the concept of leadership praxis.
The DOL program is now more readily available to students from the entire United States and throughout the world. We allow the attendance requirement at Saturday classes to be fulfilled by participating through an Internet Protocol videoconference setup.	This change was made primarily by analyzing the applications the program received and phone conversations with some of these applicants. In addition, the faculty considered the advantages of having students representing a broader geographical range than just the Midwest. Further, this change now provides us the opportunity to make the program available to students globally. In fact, one student was admitted from Ukraine this year and he hopes to raise the funds so he can begin the program in 2009. We now hope to have students from even more countries and the Department Chair has been contacted by people in other countries because this new option is available. All students are still required to be in resident at the Marion campus for three summers.

Annual Survey Reports

Each student receives an Entrance Survey in the first class of their cohort. The End of Program Survey is administered at the end of CAPS Nursing and Business/Management programs. Students complete several End of Course Surveys each year which includes questions about the instructor, the curriculum and general university services. Program directors get results from the End of Course and End of Program surveys from each cohort. Annual summaries of these surveys are provided here.

1. The Student Services report gives the cumulative scores on the section of the End of Course Survey dealing with operations/services. There is not a lot of change from last year to this year. That is good news because the scores are very high. The strongest areas are textbook delivery, facilities, and staff.
2. In the Entrance Survey report, “self development” continues to be a strong motivator for higher education. There are not a lot of changes from the 06-07 report, but when one compares data over the last eight years, some interesting trends emerge.
 - a. The academic reputation of the university has improved since 00-01 when the mean was 3.88 and now is 4.14.
 - b. The influence of the Christian worldview in the decision to attend IWU has increased from 3.79 to 4.03. This is probably due to the increase in online students because their scores are higher than on site students. IWU has become the Christian choice for online education.
 - c. The percentage of regular church-goers (attending at least a couple times a month) has remained steady at about 60% That is about the same number who pray daily (again, no change from 00-01).
3. The End of Program Survey shows that our graduating students are satisfied with their educational experience. They are particularly satisfied with the convenience of the program (registration, program length) and appreciate the helpfulness of faculty and faith component of the curriculum. Graduate students are more satisfied than undergraduate students. Over half of the students have a more positive attitude toward Christianity as a result of their experience at IWU. Only 1% has a more negative attitude toward Christianity. It is interesting to compare these results to other databases. For instance,
 - a. Comparing these results to alumni surveys indicates that alums tend to have more positive attitudes about their educational experience (“absence makes the heart grow fonder?”)
 - b. Women are significantly more likely to persist to graduation in adult business programs at IWU.
 - c. Exiting business students pray more often than entering students. Is that a product of our faith integration in the curriculum, or just a characteristic of those who are more likely to persist? Perhaps women are more likely to be pray-ers?
 - d. Students who are very motivated by the convenient nature of our program are more likely to persist. Perhaps this is because there are few alternatives which would be easier or more convenient for them.
