

FLOURISHING IN PASTORAL MINISTRY

Call for Presentations

September 29, 2018

Indiana Wesleyan University

Marion, Indiana

You are invited to submit proposals for Flourishing in Pastoral Ministry to investigate theories and best practices for fostering clergy wellbeing. Paper and presentations invited on the following topics (must be targeted to clergy wellbeing):

- Creating Healthy Congregational Systems
  - The Differentiated Pastoral Leader
    - Congregations in Conflict
    - Clergy Family Health
  - Pastoral Identity Development
    - Clergy Wellbeing

Clergy face significant challenges given their unique call within a context of rapidly changing societal and cultural forces that often impinge upon their wellbeing. This conference seeks to address these issues from an interdisciplinary perspective. It is being co-sponsored by Indiana Wesleyan University, the Division of Education and Clergy Development of The Wesleyan Church, and the Azusa Pacific University Center for Vocational Ministry.

Please fill out the following form and forward to the email listed below. Be sure to include any separate documents or supporting materials.

Proposed Session Title (15 words or less):

Your Name:

Educational Training Level:

Please Designate Degree:

Degree Domain:

Position:

Organization:

Presentation Description (1000 words or less): Please attach a separate document and forward to email below.

Presentation Abstract (150 words or less):

Experience in the field with regard to your presentation:

Contact Information:

Phone Number:

Email Address:

Mailing Address:

Proposals must be received by April 30, 2018
Send completed proposals to Dr. Dan Poff: dan.poff@indwes.edu