TRANSFER REFLECTIONS

KEVIN GIANNOTTI

Major: Ministry
Grad Year: 2012

I transferred to Indiana Wesleyan upon entering my junior year. Having come from a community college, it was a uniquely different experience. The spiritual emphasis on campus is extraordinary and the children's ministry program is phenomenal, but what set IWU apart from other universities is the people—the students, professors and faculty.

Each person on campus is ready to pray with you at a moment's notice. With other students, you discuss exciting ideas to bring into your spiritual walk and future ministry. When you attend IWU, you have the collective wisdom of every professor on hand. No staff member ever denied a meeting or a chance to mentor.

By the time I graduated and began my search for a career in full-time ministry, I felt as if I had the entire community of IWU behind me. More than any text book I read or assignment I completed, I knew I had the love, support, and confidence of students and professors that had made the effort to pour Jesus into my life. I will forever be grateful for my time spent at IWU.

PAIGE SMITH

Major: Art Education
Grad Year: 2013

My journey to Indiana Wesleyan University was unique, but ultimately changed the course of my life. I was originally recruited to play basketball at IWU out of high school, but was an atheist and thought that it would be unwise to attend a Christian college. I went to live my 'dream' at a college in Michigan, and was truly brought to one of the lowest points of my life. After feeling unsuccessful, drained and hopeless, I knew that it was time for me to take action to change my situation. Although I was still an atheist, the only college that came to mind was IWU. Little did I know that God was whispering the most pivotal decision of my life into my ear.

After attending IWU for only a month, I had changed my major to what I knew I truly wanted to pursue, built relationships with teammates and coaches who truly cared for me and accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Savior.

Transferring to IWU empowered me to pursue a career that I felt called to, gave me the support and friendship I needed to grow in my faith and as a woman, and prepared me with an education that is unparalleled. If you are feeling lost, hopeless or like you need a second chance – Indiana Wesleyan University can supply the positive community and support that you need to lead a life driven by a purpose greater than you could ever imagine!

JOHNNY MARLIN

Major: Business
Grad Year: 2015

I met with Coach Clark, assistant men's basketball coach, only one time and his openness and the way he talked about faith blew me away. I wanted a smaller community where faith came before athletics. I transferred without knowing much about the campus other than that their basketball team was on fire for serving the Lord. I remember the first time I went in to a huddle before practice expecting to break it down on some classic line of "together," only to realize they were praying. From the beginning and how they approached basketball, I knew I was in for something special.

I've had some cool experiences, running out in front of 17,500 screaming fans at my former university's basketball auditorium. But, if I could return to high school and do it over again, I would have attended Indiana Wesleyan from the start. I'm so thankful to have had the opportunity to represent this school and be a member of the men's basketball team. I can honestly say that in my two years at IWU, I learned what it means to be a man of God and there is no education more valuable than the principles instilled in me through this University.

JANESSA GUEVARA

Major: Criminal Justice
Grad Year: 2016

Prior to IWU, I attended two institutions closer to home. My family is important to me and I cherish them; however, I knew that I needed a fresh start academically and spiritually. I wanted to renew my faith in Christ and I needed an institution that would allow that growth. After a bit of research, I found Indiana Wesleyan University. Upon the first communication with the softball coach, Coach Babs, and interaction with many of the girls on the team, I realized I had found a place with the community I was seeking.

The student body is welcoming and encouraging. The professors are available and approachable, even outside of academics.

Attending IWU was by far the best decision of my life. My faith grew stronger every day and my grades were the best I achieved. As a student, I read Rick Warren's "What on Earth Am I Here For" in one of my Criminal Justice classes. Through this book and my experience at IWU, I grew closer to understanding my purpose in life. I believe the Lord has called me to guide and influence young kids through the sharing of my story.

TRIO STUDENT JOURNEY

"Finances were a big challenge for me. I knew I would have to work hard over breaks and during school to make it work. I was motivated to do that because I wanted to come to IWU."

- Sarah

"The first thing I noticed was the spiritual love that everyone on campus showed to one another. I was a little drawn back by the small amount of diversity, but the longer I was at IWU, I could feel the love."

- Christina

THE FACULTY

ARCHAEOLOGIST
DR. WILBUR WILLIAMS

Old Testament Professor Dr. Wilbur Williams has led 183 trips to Israel as a tour guide. Dr. Williams, who has taught well over 15,000 students, has been leading tour groups and participating in archaeological digs in Biblical lands for more than 40 years. For several years, Dr. Williams donated all but $1 of his annual salary to the school for the construction of a Gothic-style prayer chapel in the center of campus.

ADVISOR
DR. ALY WILLIAMS

Dr. Aly Williams, Director of Academic Advising and Associate Professor of Exercise Science, returned to IWU to help students discover their life calling and how that calling can be fulfilled through their academic career. "Many students enter college with a major in mind or a potential job they wish to pursue. My hope is that students truly take time to examine their God-given gifts and talents and then discover how they might use those talents to glorify God."

TREASURE HUNTER
DR. JERRY PATTENGALE

Dr. Jerry Pattengale, University Professor, spends much of his time expanding and promoting Passages, a unique moving exhibit showing off some of the oldest copies of the Bible in existence. Dr. Pattengale helps manage the study of one of the largest privately-owned collections. "The real-life treasure hunters of the Green Scholars Initiative are uncovering new scientific mysteries in ancient biblical texts and manuscripts," said Dr. Pattengale.

HISTORIAN
DR. RUSTY HAWKINS

"The most segregated hour of Christian America is eleven o'clock on Sunday morning." Despite many years of progress, the church still deals with some deep-seated racial problems. In his book "Christians and the Color Line," Dr. Rusty Hawkins analyzes this racial divide and looks at what successful multiethnic congregations have already done. "It's about becoming aware of the structures of the society around us," Dr. Hawkins said.

PIANIST
DR. PHOENIX PARK-KIM

Music Professor Dr. Phoenix Park-Kim is an experienced concert pianist who is known and respected all over the world. She has performed in the United States, South Korea, Taiwan, Italy, Switzerland and Russia. She's played at Carnegie Hall and performed with the Korean Philharmonic. In 2013, she honored Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. at an event in Los Angeles, performing a new composition by a Korean composer specifically to honor the great civil rights leader's lecture.

SCIENTIST
DR. MATT SATTLEY

Associate Professor of Biology, Dr. Matthew Sattley, and his students study the lives and behavior of bacteria from the bottom of the world. Dr. Sattley and his team are studying how Antarctic lake organisms cycle nutrients. "Even though these lakes are right around the freezing point of water, the organisms tend to grow better if you warm them," Sattley said. He's not really sure what that means yet; the bacteria may have come from somewhere else. It's questions like these that drive Dr. Sattley's passion for research.

MUSICIAN
TODD WILLIAMS

Todd Williams is a saxophonist who has played with some of the best jazz musicians in the world, in venues like Lincoln Center in New York and even the White House. But, he's also a man of faith. He took a break from performing for a while to work as the music director of Times Square Church. He came to IWU because he felt a call to teach, he told the IWU student newspaper, The Sojourn. Williams' three passions of teaching, faith, and performance fit together perfectly at IWU.

FACULTY AND STUDENT INTERACTION

Our programs' success hinges on over 150 nationally recognized faculty members. Our 14:1 student to faculty ratio affords personal collaboration with professors who are passionate about your success!

ALL IN

Faculty and staff are committed to enveloping you in prayer. Regular prayer walks across campus and Chapel services bring the University community together to worship and pray. Two prayer spaces are open morning to night in the Williams Prayer Chapel and the Chapel Auditorium. During your time on campus, you will be challenged to build academic excellence on a foundation of scriptural truth, and encouraged to build upon your God-given calling to become all that our Creator intended for you to be.

OTT HALL OF SCIENCES & NURSING

YOU MAY BE A SCIENTIST

Biology, Physics, Chemistry, Computer Science, Math, Nursing and Athletic Training students share space and knowledge by learning together in the Ott Hall of Sciences and Nursing.

“There’s a decent chance that a physical therapist would work with an athletic trainer, or an occupational therapist would work with somebody in public health,” said Dr. Aly Williams, associate professor of exercise science. “Any time you can put together a program where those types of students would intermix, you’re creating a dynamic that really doesn’t exist anywhere else.”

IWU’s nursing program, the largest within the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities (CCCU), is nationally recognized. IWU is building on that reputation to become one of the leading Christian schools for scientific training. You can get in on the ground floor of our growth, literally.

Research is a foundational component of IWU’s science programs. With expanded facilities and resources, more students conduct scientific research on their own. Students have hands-on experience actually doing what they’ve been learning about in books and in classes. You might even see your name in print on a published scientific paper before you graduate.

IWU OFFERS MULTIPLE GRADUATE PROGRAMS IN SCIENCES AND NURSING:

- MASTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH
- OCCUPATIONAL THERAPY DOCTORATE
- ASN-MSN
- MSN MBA

IMPACT THE WORLD

FOR CHRIST

What is a "Christian University?" Is it run by a church? Is it where a lot of Christians happen to go? Or is it a university where Christ and His gospel permeate every part of campus life?

Yes, we have chapel three times a week. Yes, we have dedicated spaces for prayer and worship. Yes, we sing hymns during graduation.

But none of that would matter if we did not also have a lot of people committed to prayer and devotion and answering the call of the Holy Spirit for the advancement of the kingdom of God. We return constantly to prayer, through regular meetings and prayer walks. We claim no success based on our own strength and ability; the credit for any achievements goes to God and God alone.

We believe that spiritual transformation involves not only an inward experience of God's grace in our lives, but also an outward expression of love and compassion for others.

John Wesley taught that every Christian has an obligation to serve the poor, destitute, sick and imprisoned. We accept that responsibility enthusiastically.

Don't wait until you graduate to start transforming the world. You have the ability to make positive real-world change now.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

The nearly 3,800-seat Chapel Auditorium is the center of spiritual life, hosting chapel services three times a week.

Prayer spaces in the Williams Prayer Chapel and the upper floor of the Chapel Auditorium offer members of the IWU community a place to slip away from life for a time to commune with God.

NONE ARE SO YOUNG...AS TO BE EXCUSED FROM ASSISTING THEIR NEIGHBORS.
